GO BLUE

The Michigan Work Society, formerly known as the Walter P. Work Society, was established in 1978 by alumni who received their training under the direction of Walter P. Work, M.D. The society was created in order to acknowledge these trainees' gratitude for Dr. Work's teachings, guidance and leadership.

Today the Michigan Work Society is open to former and current department trainees and faculty. During a bi-annual meeting, members come together to learn about the progress of the department, share scientific presentations and enjoy each other's company through a variety of social events.
