

Kellogg In Ethiopia

*Jonathan Greene, MD and Monte Del Monte, MD
 University of Michigan*

*Bezawit Tadegegne, MD and Lemlem Tamrat, MD
 St. Paul's Hospital, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia*

St. Paul's Hospital in Addis Ababa, second largest hospital in Ethiopia

Bezawit Tadegegne, MD (left), Chair of Ophthalmology, and Lemlem Tamrat, MD, Ophthalmology Residency Program Director, St. Paul's Hospital, during visit to Kellogg in May 2015

Senait Fisseha, MD, (center) former Executive Director, U-M Division of Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility, and driving force behind U-M collaboration with St. Paul's Hospital, with Lia Tadesse, MD (left), her successor, and Elias Hailu Gebreab, MD, president of Ophthalmological Society of Ethiopia

Lia Tadesse, MD, Executive Director, U-M Center for International Reproductive Health Training, and coordinator of U-M collaborations at St. Paul's Hospital

Patients waiting for eye examinations at St. Paul's Hospital

Jonathan Greene, MD, U-M Assistant Professor of Ophthalmology, lectures at CME symposium in St. Paul's Hospital

Drs. Greene (left) and Gebreab (center) with Monte Del Monte, MD, Skillman Professor of Pediatric Ophthalmology at U-M, in operating room at St. Paul's Hospital