Coaching Skills Workshop:
The “what, why, and how” of leadership and professionalism coaching

Faculty & Resident Leads:
Lily H. Maguire, MD
Assistant Professor, General Surgery
Ana De Roo, MD, MS
Resident, General Surgery

SESSION OVERVIEW:
Surgical coaching is becoming an increasingly investigated and practiced method for improving skill and technique. Distinct from mentorship, sponsorship, and management, coaching involves a more hands-on approach to feedback. In this session, we’ll discuss how to outline goals with coaches, and how to respond to difficult feedback. We will also cover the importance of asserting goals, trajectory and related lines of inquiry thoughtfully and humbly. In the afternoon, we’ll break into groups and develop personalized coaching plans.

LOCATION:
North Campus Research Complex, Building 520, Room 1122

REGISTRATION:
Please RSVP to Corey Jessop cjessop@med.umich.edu as space is limited.
Deadline for registration is October 4, 2019.

TIMES:
7:30 a.m. – 3:30 p.m.