The Reed M. Nesbit Urologic Society, founded in 1972, holds an annual meeting for urologists who trained or were affiliated with the University of Michigan Department of Urology. It is open to residents, fellows, faculty and interested community urologists. This year’s program focuses on a wide range of urology topics. Dr. Toby Chai from Yale University will serve as this year’s Visiting Professor while Dr. Matt Davenport of the Michigan Medicine Department of Radiology will be the guest speaker.

Target audience: Urologists

After attending this activity, participants will be able to:

1. Better diagnose and treat prostate cancer.
2. Learn more about the difference between academic medicine and private practice.
4. Understand new conclusions in neurogenic bladder research.
5. Get an update on the Multidisciplinary Approach to the Study of Chronic Pelvic Pain

The University of Michigan Medical School is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians. The University of Michigan Medical School designates this live activity for a maximum of 4.5 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
