Welcome to Volume 1 !!!!

Dear U-M EM Residency Alumni,

We are reaching out to say hi and wish you a very happy summer!

This is the first volume of our alumni newsletter that we’ll aim to send out a few times a year with updates and happenings. We also hope to utilize the newsletter and listserv more for keeping everyone informed and connected.

In May, we enjoyed seeing many of you in person at SAEM! June comes as a time of great transition for us here in Ann Arbor as we send off our graduates in style during the 2022 residency graduation and welcome our incoming interns during orientation!

Please see the articles for more information about our graduates and incoming interns.

We look forward to hearing from you!

Mary Haas, MD, MHPE

The EM Job Search: As our rising EM4s start to think about the job search, they may reach out to you for advice. If you are aware of any current or upcoming job opportunities, please let us know by emailing me (calderom@med.umich.edu) and we will share them with our residents.
Welcome to the Class of 2026!!

Can we highlight your success??

ALUMNI PROFILES

Tell us what you’re up to! We would love to feature our alumni regularly on our residency Instagram account, especially as another virtual recruitment season approaches and we hear from applicants that learning about alumni career paths is increasingly important as they make decisions about where they would like to train. If you would like to be featured, please email me (calderom@med.umich.edu) and we’ll include a brief profile describing your current role and how you got there.
Our Alumni in the News!!

Michael Clery, MD, class of 2018, joins the City of Atlanta’s Office of Violence Reduction.

Michael Clery, MD, MPP
Emory University Department of Emergency Medicine

Michael Clery, MD, is joining the City of Atlanta Mayor’s Office of Violence Reduction as the inaugural deputy director. Clery is an assistant professor of emergency medicine at Emory University’s School of Medicine and an emergency medicine physician at Grady Health System Emergency Department. Clery will continue to work clinically while dedicating part of his time to the Office of Violence Reduction and Mayor Andre Dickens’ administration.

Clery is a dedicated physician with over a decade of experience in research on violent injury and public policy responses. He participated in research focused on youth violence while in medical school and residency training at the University of Michigan. He has authored papers describing adolescent firearm possession and effective follow-up practices for assault-injured youth. He also pursued a master of public policy degree at the Harvard Kennedy School where he studied social urban policy with a focus on strategies to implement hospital-based violence intervention programs. Building on this work, he became a Detroit Public Health Fellow during residency training to help design a violence reduction strategy for the city.
