

RSP/OBGYN RESEARCH FORUM

Call for Abstracts

We are now accepting abstracts for the 27th Annual RSP/OBGYN Research Forum. Founded in 1986 as the Anita Payne Research Day, this event highlights ongoing scientific and educational activities within the laboratories of the Reproductive Sciences Program and the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. This year's forum will be held on June 9, 2023 in the Towsley Center in Ann Arbor, Michigan. We are accepting abstracts for:

Research Presentations | Abstracts of all types are welcome: they need not contain formal or finalized work and they may be ideas, hypotheses, or works in progress. Formal abstracts of posters and other presentations given at scientific meetings since November 1, 2021 may be submitted. Abstracts should include text only (i.e., no tables or figures) and be no longer than 2,000 characters (including spaces and punctuation).

Laboratory/Study Overviews | We welcome overviews of the various themes of laboratories and ongoing studies. Abstracts should include text only (i.e., no tables or figures) and be no longer than 2,000 characters (including spaces and punctuation).

Top scoring abstract will present orally with monetary award.

In addition to research presentations and laboratory/study overviews, the RSP/OBGYN Research Forum features two prestigious annual lectures:

Anita H. Payne Lecture | Kellie Breen Church, Ph.D.
Associate Professor, Department of Obstetrics,
Gynecology & Reproductive Sciences
UC San Diego

John F. Randolph Lecture | Serdar E. Bulun, M.D.
Chair and John J. Sciarra Professor,
Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology
Northwestern University
